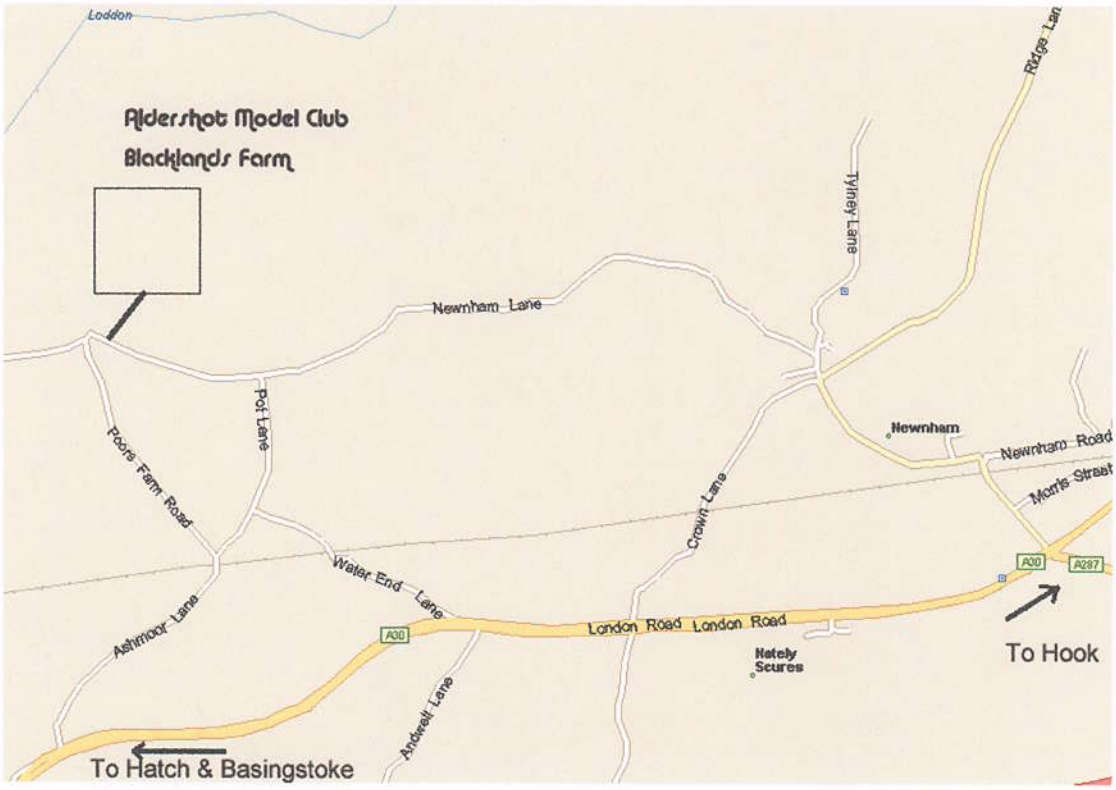
Driving to Blacklands Farm Flying Site

The Blacklands Farm site may be approached several ways but the recommended route is by taking the road from the A30 adjacent to the Red Lion public house, alternatively come along the Newnham Lane from Hook. Neither of these roads or lanes is of a high standard and they should be negotiated with due care and attention. It is suggested that it might be best to leave the site via the road over the railway, which joins the A30 about a kilometre closer to Basingstoke.

The entrance to Blacklands Farm is off Newnham Lane along a single-track concrete road, members are asked to observe a 10 mph speed limit, and to give farm vehicles priority at all times. At the end of the concrete road turn left past the milking parlour and drive through the farm yard bearing slightly left as you leave it to pass the farmhouse on your right. Follow the road around behind the farmhouse, over the stream and on past the parked caravans. Go through the gate and over another stream, then sharp right and you will see the green club caravan a couple of hundred yards further down. Cross the stream by the footbridge to reach the strip.


At all times keep your speed down and watch out for walkers.
